

I oppose expanding cell phone use on airborne aircraft. It is annoying enough to have to sit next to someone after the plane has landed. If there is a great hue and cry for use in the air, I suggest that a separate section in the back of the plane be set aside for cell phone use and leave the rest of us to travel in peace.